Rhino Face Eraser: A Group Study of Anger

Rhino Face Eraser is a group show representing the nature of anger and its expression. It will feature the work of numerous Canadian and American Glass artists including, Rachel Escoe, Annette Albert, Hellen Beamish, Larissa Blokhuis, Jayne Cornelis, Jamie Gray, Kevin Platt and Laurel Hagner. Each artist works in the discipline of glass to allow for a breadth of interpretation of anger as both motion and expression. The expectation of each participating artist will be to provide one or more works lending themselves to the idea of Anger, its manifestation and how it is individually experienced. Curated by Rachel Escoe.

Smashing Glass

The Passion for Glass studio is a Kiln Form Resource Centre available for both new and seasoned artists. They stock supplies for fusing, lampworking, and jewelry-making and are a distributor of Bullseye Glass at Canadian prices. Instructor-led private functions, including birthday parties, team building, and other special group events can also be held at Passion for Glass, along with many classes, from beginner to intermediate and professional levels. The Passion for Glass gallery features unique jewelry, paintings, sculptures, and functional glass pieces from some of Alberta's best artists. The displays are constantly changing so plan to stop by often to see the new exhibits.
